

The Journey of a Donation

United Way of Northeast Georgia

- 7:00 A.M. Monday morning: Molly opens the pantry to make breakfast for the kids. No problem, she still has some of the food from the weekend food bags her kids received at school on Friday.
- 9:00 A.M. The kids have been dropped off at school and Molly is heading to the local career center to meet with a counselor to review her resume and discuss some new job prospects.
- 2:30 P.M. Time for a little “me” time. Molly heads to her mental health check-in appointment, because all parts of health are important, especially for a single mom.
- 3:15 P.M. The kids head to their after school program to spend some extra time running around and working on their homework. Molly knows they are safe there while she heads to class at the local technical college.
- 6:15 P.M. Molly picks up the kids and they spend a few minutes looking through their bag of books. They are already picking out the ones they want to read tonight at bedtime.
- 8:45 P.M. It’s the quiet part of the evening. Molly is reading in a comfortable chair, her children are falling asleep in a bed, and they have a roof over their heads because of the local transitional housing program helping them get back on their feet.
